Partnering With Parents (PWP) was thrilled to be a part of the final "Pop Up at the Park" event of the season hosted by the Oak Park Park District. Alongside The Collaboration for Early Childhood, they had a resource table that provided community and program information to support families with young children at Euclid Park. Partnering With Parents (PWP) was thrilled to be a part of the final "Pop Up at the Park" event of the season hosted by the Oak Park Park District. Alongside The Collaboration for Early Childhood, they had a resource table that provided community and program information to support families with young children at Euclid Park

The event featured a giant Connect Four game, bubbles galore, hopscotch, and crown decorating with stickers as a creative fine motor activity. We were so happy to see several of our PWP program families join the fun and to sign up new members!

PWP partners with parents and caregivers to make parenting easier through a parent support program that includes one-on-one visits at the family home or other community location twice a month, monthly family group activities, community events, and referrals to other related supports and resources.
